

Laurel Stadtmauer, MD. PhD. is a Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Eastern Virginia Medical School, Program Director of the Jones Institute Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility Fellowship, and Director of the Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility Division.

Dr. Stadtmauer received her medical degree with a PhD from Albert Einstein College of Medicine in NY, followed by OB/Gyn residency training at Mount Sinai Hospital in NYC and fellowship in REI at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital NYC. She is Board Certified in both Obstetrics and Gynecology and Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility.

Dr Stadtmauer has been Principal Investigator and received funding in more than 15 studies in the field of human reproduction and has published more than 100 original manuscripts, abstracts and book chapters. She was Chair and faculty for the Postgraduate Course Ultrasound in Reproductive Medicine at the annual ASRM meetings between 2011 and 2017. She was one of the founding faculty members and the Course Director of the Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility module for the Distance EVMS Masters in Embryology and Reproductive Biology Program with students from all over the world since 2006. She has been an invited speaker at national and international meetings including IFFS 2016 and invited Awards and Orations in World Conferences in India. She with Ilan Tur-Kaspa were co-editors of Ultrasound Imaging in Reproductive Medicine published by Springer in 2014 and are currently preparing the second edition of this book due to high demand .

Her research and publications are related to reproductive and robotic surgery, 3-D ultrasound imaging, IVF, implantation, PCOS, ovarian reserve, fertility preservation, other topics in reproductive endocrinology and infertility.