

Professor Emeritus Joseph Itskovitz-Eldor, retired lately from the Rambam Medical Center and the Technion where he directed the department of Obstetrics- Gynecology, the IVF program, and the hESC Research Center. He was involved in the isolation of the first world hESC lines 20 years ago (Itskovitz-Eldor, Stem Cell Report, May 2018). More recently he is involved in the translation of hESC technologies to the industry and the clinic in several stem cell companies.