

Daniel S. Seidman, MD, MCSc

- Senior physician at the IVF unit of the Division of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Sheba Medical Center, Tel-Hashomer, Tel-Aviv. Co-director, IVF Unit, Assuta Medical Center, Tel-Aviv (one of the largest IVF Units in the world with over 7,000 cycles per annum). Associate Professor at the Sackler School of Medicine, Tel-Aviv University.
- Past-President of the Israeli Society of Contraception and Sexual Health (2000-2017). Director of the Annual Course on Human Reproduction, School for Advanced Degrees of the Sackler School of Medicine, Tel-Aviv University. Editor, Update Journal of the Israeli Obstetrics and Gynecology Association. Editorial board member, Israeli Journal of Medical Sciences (IMAJ) and Journal of Pregnancy. International Advisory Board, The Journal of Obstetrics & Gynecology of India.
- Trained in Advanced Endoscopic Surgery for three years at the Stanford Endoscopy Center, under the supervision of Prof. Camran Nezhat. Completed a fellowship in Reproductive Surgery at the Stanford Medical Center, Stanford, California. Two times winner of First Prize in the American Association of Gynecological Laparoscopists (AAGL) "Golden Hysteroscope Competition".
- Published over 250 research papers and several books mainly in the field of human reproduction and advanced endoscopic surgery. Member of the Israeli Ob/Gyn Examination Review Board. Member of the Board of Directors of the International Society for In Vitro Fertilization (ISIVF). Past board member of the European Society of Contraception and Reproductive Health (ESC).

